Road progress

The city of Romulus and Tax Increment Finance Authority Board Number Three celebrated the reconstruction of a mile-long strip of Smith Road last Tuesday. The $980,000 project is nearly complete (minor work needs to be done in the spring) to allow Smith Road to handle the growing traffic between Merriman and Middlebelt roads. At the ribbon cutting ceremony were Councilman Ellis Pennington, TIFA chairman Jason Lovette, Mayor Beverly McAnally and Council members Bill Wadsworth and Pete Bergeron. ANP photo by Ken Garner

Well trial postponed until mid-January '94

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

As predicted, the expected trial involving city charges against Environmental Disposal Services (EDS) was delayed Monday until Jan. 26, Romulus City Attorney Barry Seifman said Tuesday.

Seifman said, "Actually both sides needed time for preparation for a full trial. In many cases such trials are put off for a year rather than two weeks."

Several requests were made by EDS attorney Norman Hyman that were rejected by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Claudia House Morcom.

The requests were to allow construction of a 76-foot shaft for the dual purpose of providing drinking water on the site and for future Environmental Protection Agency tests, for winterization of the EDS staff trailer and for security lights on the property.

The city is seeking to block any further construction or work on the facility, Seifman said, and he felt such work would be a violation of the temporary freeze on work that Morcom had ordered.

The trial will also determine whether work at the site be permanently halted until EDS proves compliance with Romulus city ordinances.

EDS, armed with approvals from both the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR), began sinking the hazardous-non-hazardous liquid injection well this summer.

According to past EDS press releases the major work is completed on the Wahrman Road project at an investment of about $2 million.

Last week State Rep. Gregory Pitoniak (D-Taylor) announced that he had submitted a bill request which would prohibit commercial hazardous waste injection wells from the state of Michigan.

Pitoniak said his concern on the subject was spawned by the 4,500 foot injection well under way in Romulus.

While Pitoniak said he was "pleased that plans for this injection well (the first of its type in Michigan) have been dealt with in a responsible and carefully planned manner," he does "have some concerns, because liquid industrial wastes can pose many problems for a community."

Pitoniak said his concerns are mainly in the area of waste transportation and follow up EPA testing.

"Although the truck route which has been developed for these (waste carrying) vehicles does not pass through any residential or school zones," Pitoniak added, "the danger of leaking is always prevalent, particularly in case of an accident."

Pitoniak said, "Another problem is that both the EPA and DNR have acknowledged that their ability to properly monitor these wastes might be hindered by a lack of staff."

"We are seeing a reduction in the staff at almost every governmental agency in the state," he added, "and unfortunately it hurts the regulation of programs such as this injection well, making it difficult to assure Romulus residents of their safety."

Pitoniak also questioned the need for a commercial waste well, when "industry in our state has managed fine

Historic city council election ends with a 'pick of the draw'

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

It's officially now Councilman Michael Prybyla.

Prybyla was sworn in as the seventh Romulus council member by City Clerk Linda Choate late in the afternoon of Nov. 23. He will join the council for the first time on Dec. 6.

Prybyla admits that his entrance into the political life of Romulus has been a virtual roller coaster ride.

On election day (Nov. 2) Prybyla was told he apparently won a seat on the seven-member Romulus City Council by one vote. The one-vote lead stood up with an election check the next day by the city clerk's office.

But one of his two losing opponents, Mary Collins, who lost by that one vote, challenged the outcome and paid $180 to have the votes recounted.

Last Tuesday, Wayne County Clerk Ed Carrie and a team from the County Board of Canvassers visited Romulus City Hall to conduct an official recount.

By 2 p.m. Nov. 23 it was revealed that all the votes on the precinct voting machines had been checked and there was no change.

"All they have to do now is check the absentee ballots," a city official said.

There the drama continued when it was discovered that one absentee voter had cast eight votes instead of seven and that ballot was declared invalid. On that ballot was a vote for Prybyla, which was subtracted from his initial total of 1,299.

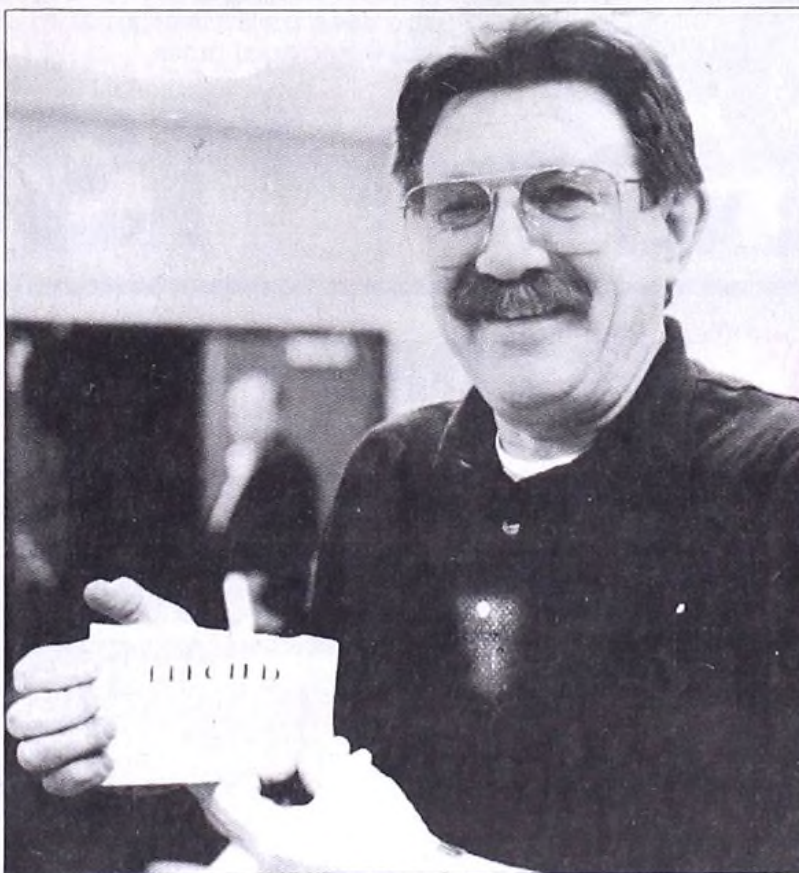

That set up the totally unlikely scenario in which Prybyla and Collins finished in a tie and according to Wayne County election laws, it would be settled with a drawing.

Prybyla said, "I suddenly thought I lost it all and my emotions went on a roller coaster ride. Since I needed a break from the stressful proceedings of the day," he said, "I decided to take a ride alone in my car."

"I then called my wife, Midge, who gave me a pep talk," Prybyla said.

Collins, in the meantime, said she was "shaky through-

Driver guilty of killing Romulus mom, son

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A 28-year-old Detroit motorist was convicted last week of driving the vehicle that resulted in the deaths of a Romulus mother and son by a jury in Detroit Recorder's Court.

Kenneth Karl Williams had claimed that he was the "victim of a car jacking and didn't know the gunman in the back seat of his car at the time of the crash," Romulus Detective Sgt. Dan Snyder revealed.

But a check of the home of the second suspect, Ramon Davis, 23, also of Detroit, located a copy of Williams' beeper number, Snyder said.

With that evidence and numerous other pieces of testimony and physical displays, a jury obviously did not believe Williams and he was convicted of two counts of felony murder, one count of assault with intent to rob while armed and one count of felony firearm possession.

Williams, who faces a life prison term, will be sentenced on Dec. 20.

His co-defendant Davis, who recently was released following extensive treatment of a closed head wound, is expected to have a preliminary hearing in the 34th District Court on Dec. 29.

He faces similar charges, Snyder said.

According to police reports, the two Detroit men robbed an employee of the Aspen Party Store in Van Buren and then fled at speeds up to 85 mph passing through several red traffic lights, before colliding with a truck bearing John Brady, 30, and his mother, Reva, 51.

The Bradys were traveling to a drug store to pick up medication for a family member just before noon on Jan. 14, 1993.

Romulus on-lookers pulled both mother and son from the badly mangled pick-up truck, police said, but it appeared both had been killed instantly by the impact of the crash.

Only seconds after the crash, the truck burst into flames, police said.

Van Buren Township and Romulus police officers then rushed to the second vehicle and apprehended the two suspects.

Williams was found in the front seat and the unconscious Davis was found in the rear seat, along with a sawed-off shotgun.

The police chase that was followed by the Bradys' deaths, along with several other similar crashes in southern Michigan at the time, led to cries about halting such hot pursuits.

Sentencing due in fire injury

Michael Tomason, 18, of Romulus, is slated to be sentenced on Dec. 9 for felonious assault on a teen-age girl, who he was convicted of throwing into a fire on June 13.

Tomason had been scheduled to be sentenced on Nov. 18, but the sentencing was delayed until Dec. 9.

Bedell named to Ford committee

Romulus School Superintendent Dr. William Bedell has accepted an invitation from Cong. William Ford (D-Ypsilanti) to serve on an elementary and secondary education advisory committee.

Ford has asked Bedell to join the group because "every major program affecting elementary and secondary education must be reauthorized during this session of Congress."

Ford said the programs include Chapter 1, Chapter 2, drug-free schools, school lunch programs, school breakfast, Head Start and the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

without one so far. Since there are other ways of handling wastes the burden is on industry to prove the necessity of initiating this major step in waste removal."

Pitoniak concluded by saying "the residents of Romulus and the entire state deserve to know all the details of such a serious topic. Part of my job is to provide this information and distribute all findings to the public."

Hyman said "EDS has no comment on Pitoniak's bill request, as it has not seen it up to this time."

out the whole day's process" and smiled hours later when she was told she had turned white midway through the proceedings.

Shortly after 4 p.m. both candidates returned for the official "drawing" to determine the winner. Slips of paper with the words "elected" and "not elected" were prepared. After a number of deep breaths, both candidates picked one of the slips and Prybyla was declared the winner.

He was immediately sworn into office by Choate, but admitted that his throat had tightened so much that some of the words were hard to say.

Collins said both she and Prybyla shook hands before the recounting began and after the emotional climax.

Collins said she offers her "best to Prybyla" stating "he has his work cut out for him."

Prybyla accepted Collins congratulations, as well as that of his key backer, Mayor Beverly McAnally.

Prybyla said he is "looking forward to serving the city as councilman." But the whole event has humbled him, since he "never experienced anything like this in my life."

McAnally said she felt bad that Prybyla was not sworn in with the remainder of the council on Nov. 8, but is extremely pleased to have him now an official member of her team.

McAnally said while she had no sympathy for Collins cliff-hanger loss, as a fellow politician she could sympathize with the disappointment Collins must feel after seeking the council post for a third time.

Prybyla, 51, also serves as a departmental manager in the Wayne County Health Department.

Collins said she has no problems with Prybyla serving as councilman, as she even voted for him. "My differences are more with the mayor's office," she said.

Church members pray for expansion

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A cry for growth by the pastor of an historic church and an equally committed vow for park preservation looms as a potential community battle of priorities in the near future.

Pastor Donald (Mike) McClellan of the Romulus Wesleyan Church appeared at a recent City Council session to inform the council that his church board wished to make the city aware that it was interested in buying property next to the church, if it should become available.

The property, currently known as Kennedy Park, is owned by the city, and Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks told the church leaders that park land was critical to the future recreational needs of the city. Park land in Romulus, like in other communities, will soon be considered a premium for residents, many feel.

Banks also reminded the church leaders that any decision on future use of the park land remains in the hands of the Romulus City Council.

A parks department spokesman said the park is used many times at lunch times by area residents and for local picnics.

The small park located in the "Five Points" area of Romulus currently is also equipped with recreational equipment suitable for young children and was named in honor of President Kennedy, shortly after his assassination in 1963.

McClellan, who has been pastor of the local church for four years, reported the church is in dire need of a new sanctuary and fellowship hall.

"If you don't plan for growth it just won't happen," he said, and pointed out local churches are currently at the forefront in working to assist local youth and families in these crisis filled times.

McClellan said that churches in many areas are being asked to conduct programs that were handled by state and national agencies for several decades, prior to most recent funding cutbacks.

Wesleyan Church has a number of youth-related programs being conducted inside the church and has several outreach programs at the Romulus Middle School and a nearby business establishment.

Expanded room is needed inside the church as both its membership and programs increase, McClellan said.

The church hopes to increase its youth age offerings and begin a senior citizen program in the future, the pastor explained.

The Wesleyan Church organization traces its roots in Romulus back to 1838 and first work on the original part of the current structure began in 1855. With help from the Romulus community, the church building was completed a year later at a cost of $1,400.

Years later it is believed the church was used as part of the national Underground Railroad that help lead slaves from the south to freedom in the northern states or Canada.

The church archives contains photos and printed records of its former pastors dating back to 1851. Ironically, McClellan said, the church had a woman pastor, Jennie Ayers in 1904 and 1905, long before most churches even considered such an appointment.

In 1948 Pastor Kenneth Bauer added a Sunday School room on to the old building, as a temporary solution to its space problems.

In 1955 as the church was marking its centennial celebration, Pastor Arthur Ruder and the church building committee had the old church lifted and moved slightly to its present location, where a basement was added, along with a fellowship hall, new sanctuary and classrooms.

In 1978 the mortgage for those improvements was burned under the direction of the Rev. James Roberts.

In 1979 the church building was identified as a historical site.

Today, McClellan said, the church membership is ready to tackle another improvement program with the addition of an enlarged sanctuary and fellowship hall. But no action can be taken, he said, unless the city is willing to sell the park property to the church.

"I feel it will happen," McClellan said, "but only the Lord knows the timing of it."

Romulus executive takes pleasure in aiding youth

Corzell White wants to make a difference in the life of Romulus youth today.

White, 26, signed on with the Romulus Help Center earlier this year as a volunteer youth mentor and has been working with a formerly troubled-plagued 13-year-old boy.

As a mentor, White has been asked to serve as a "role model" and adult companion for the boy, who was suffering from low educational scores, poor self-esteem and lack of direction.

Just since July when White began working with the youth, he said steady progress is already being seen by the boy's mother.

White helps the middle school student with his homework and motivation and has seen the teen's poor grades climb to the A and B level.

In addition, he has helped the boy with his family relationships. The youth now assists with family chores and, in most cases, has stopped talking back to his mother.

White is also helping the boy work at his goal of becoming a veterinarian. He also assists the youth with his hobbies of artwork and working on bicycles.

White, who grew up in Romulus, says he gets great satisfaction working with the program, because he loves young children and realizes that education is a key factor in their future.

He also realizes that youths today are facing many more hazards and challenges than he did as a youth only a decade or two ago.

"It's a great feeling to help youth today pass from a negative to positive life style," White said. "Knowing you had a part in this transformation gives you enough confidence to want to accept other challenges in life."

White is married and the father of a two-year-old son. He also has several older nephews that help him relate to his assigned youth.

He also is employed as a field merchandise coordinator with Total Petroleum.

White is hopeful other area adults will accept a similar challenge and sign on as volunteer mentors.

The requirements of mentors include:

- the ability to spend a minimum of two to four hours a week with the assigned child and his or her family.
- the willingness to commit to a minimum of one year with the youth to ensure continuity of the program.

Some of the qualifications include: being 21 years of age or more, having no pending criminal charges filed, a high school education (advanced training is helpful), a stable home life, a variety of interests, the ability to keep accurate records and a willingness to seek guidance from program staff members.

Corzell White

Voluntary mentors are required to take 15 hours of training prior to being assigned a youth.

Holiday gathering is a classic

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

For the last 60 years the Hay and Morris families of Romulus have built up a Thanksgiving Day tradition of gathering around one large dinner table and sharing thanks and memories, as well as a huge turkey dinner.

Helen Hay said last Thursday several dozen family members came to her farm-style home on Huron River Drive to share a 40-pound turkey roasted as usual by her husband, Fred Sr.

Each member of the family brought a dish to pass, and by tradition, Pearl Morris, provides the meal's dessert, several tasty homemade pies.

"We are a close-knit family, both geographically and socially," Helen Hay said. "While there may be weeks we don't enter each others homes, when a crisis develops for any one of us, the entire family is there to assist in rectifying it."

"For many in the family including our son, Fred Jr., the Thanksgiving Day meal is so important. It is a time when any member who wishes can verbalize their thanks for the year's successes."

"In fact, the various reasons to be thankful are the main topic of the day each year," she continued.

"For some of us, just the fact we are alive, healthy and able to share another Thanksgiving with those we love most dearly, is a giant reason to be thankful," she said.

Pearl Morris at the age of 75 is the oldest member of the family unit, while Andrea Hay, 18 months old, is the youngest.

Most of the family are community active, each serving in different volunteer efforts throughout Romulus. Several including Morris and the Hays are active with the Romulus Historical Society.

TO THE CITIZENS OF ROMULUS FROM A FAMILY PROUD OF IT'S SERVICE TO IT'S COMMUNITY AND COUNTRY

For 65 years I have lived in my present home in Romulus and, along with my wife Mary Ann, have raised 7 children. Now we are the proud grandparents of 11 grandchildren. During my life I have always done what I thought was in the best interest of my country, my community and my family.

Approximately three years ago, I was approached by representatives of Environmental Disposal Systems and received an offer to buy some of my land north of Northline Road and west of Wahrman Road. EDS said they wanted to build a deep injection well to dispose of hazardous and non-hazardous liquid waste almost a mile below the surface of the ground. As an independent businessman I was impressed by their guts to take such a large risk. At first I was not sure whether their idea was a good one but they showed me a lot of scientific information about safety and the environment which I took the time to read and understand. After talking it over with my family, I believed that the EDS people were sincere and I accepted their offer.

In December, 1990 EDS sent me a copy of the geological report prepared for them by the University of Michigan which said the well would be safe. For the next 2-1/2 years EDS kept in touch with Romulus city officials to keep them informed of the project and their work with the DNR and EPA to get permits.

Back in June, EDS said they had received their permits from the DNR and EPA and were ready to drill their well. I told all of my neighbors that the big drilling rig would be arriving this summer and everybody was excited to see it.

On July 13th, EDS held an informational dinner for city officials to tell them the drilling rig was coming on July 20th and to answer their questions. The rig started drilling on July 20th and finished the well a month later, on August 19. It was pretty noisy during that month and also busy from all the heavy construction trucks coming and going. During this whole time nobody complained about the well.

On September 27th, just six weeks before our city election, there was a lot of noise from people who were involved in the election. This group included a person who was running for city council and a person who lives 1/2 mile from the well site. These people claim they were never told about the well even though the rig had a 120' high derrick with aircraft warning lights and huge unmuffled turbo-charged diesel engines which ran 24 hours a day for a solid month.

While they were drilling the well the EDS people had several barbecues at the well site, which gave us an opportunity to learn about the well.

During the past three years I have gotten to know the EDS people and believe they are sincere and wish to really help clean up the environment the best way they know how. I also believe it is about time somebody actually did something about cleaning up our environment and not just blowing a lot of hot air talking about it. There are areas in our town right now that have industrial waste laying open on the ground. EDS will help us clean this up. I remember when there were fish and lots of other wildlife in Romulus. Now the only thing in our ditches and streams is pollution.

During the past two months, I and members of my family have been slandered and insulted by members of the anti-well group. If this group would take more time to study the benefits of this project we would all be better off. It is my right to sell my property when I believe it will benefit my community. Why would I, as an older member of a large family who has lived more than 65 years in this community, sell my property if I thought it would damage the health and welfare of my children or my grandchildren. Lies and insults must stop and a committee should be formed by the city to study the real facts available to them and the benefits which this project can provide.

We intend to continue to live here in Romulus and my family is owed the respect of this community for our commitment to this community. My family has served this community in elected, appointed and volunteer positions for many years and we will continue to do that. We are one of the proudest families in Romulus for our commitment and service to our community.

Opinion

A well of conflict

The construction of a hazardous waste deep well in Romulus has recently become the subject of a great deal of attention—from local political candidates, community activists, present officials and the media. While much of this attention is grounded, we believe, in a genuine concern for the welfare of the environment and the community, some of it is based on gossip and misinformation. Even that we can tolerate and understand, considering the human condition. It is the self-serving grandstanding and political aggrandizement which we find offensive, inappropriate and a threat to the well being of the community.

Perhaps we are being too harsh in this regard—but we have little or no tolerance left for those who would use the emotions and fear of the public to promote their own campaign for political office or attempt to use this issue to prove their worth to the community.

More than three years ago, Environmental Disposal Systems (EDS) requested and was granted approval from both the members of the Romulus City Council and the various state departments to begin testing the viability of this facility. At that time the elected officials were unanimously in favor of the project.

In the three-year interim, the company has obtained every permit necessary and undergone vigorous and extensive examination by state agencies, environmental engineers and regulators. They have complied with all the necessary specifications and have proven, beyond a doubt, to these professionals that this is a safe and necessary installation which will not harm the community or the environment.

Now, three years later, after sinking more than $2 million into the $6 million project, the installation has become a political football and fodder for misinformation and grandstanding of a type usually reserved only for the political arena.

Did EDS make mistakes in the proposal of the project? Yes, we think so. But we are reminded that the most serious error we can find must be laid at the feet of the state Department of Natural Resources which was charged with the initial publication notifying residents of the public hearing on the matter. Officials from the DNR chose to publish the notice in a Detroit daily newspaper with a description by plat and marker which would be difficult, at best, to ever interpret as a hazardous waste disposal deep well project in Romulus.

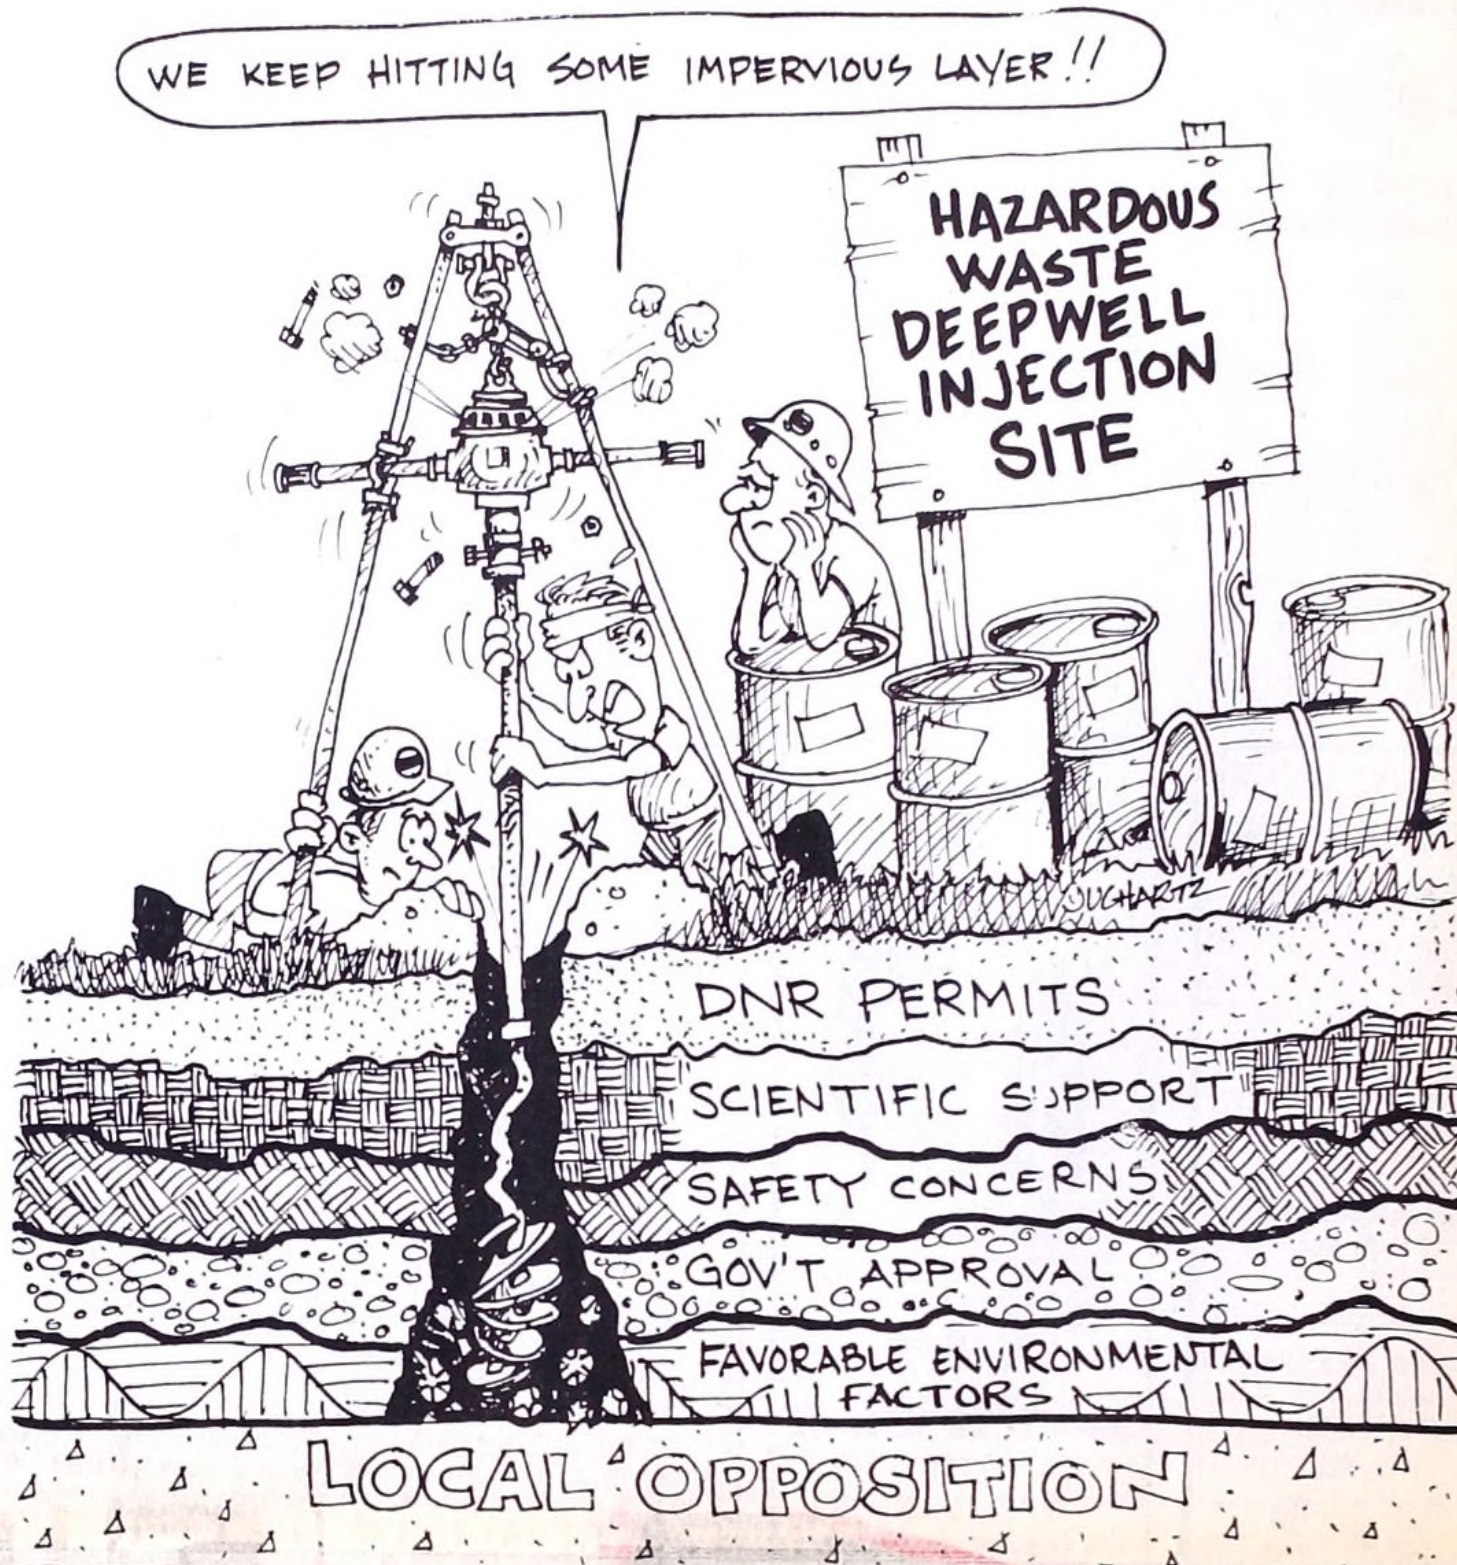

The citizens, because of this, did not have adequate notice and were not properly informed of the project and the impact it might have. And, while this was the responsibility of the state agency, not EDS, public opinion still rankles at this lack of information and notification.

We must also note the complicity of EDS in their own poor publicity regarding the matter. Having every confidence in their position and in the compliance with all testing and environmental performance standards, the company did not fight back when this issue became fodder for the political rhetoric which surrounded the recent campaign. And, company representatives relied on their reputation, scientific data and reports to convince the public of the safety and viability of the project.

That was unfortunate. The emotional impact and misinformation which traveled through the community continues to be a problem for them. It is our understanding the EDS representatives will now be on hand at all city council meetings to answer questions directly and they have taken a much more vigorous stance in protecting themselves from the slings and arrows of public mistrust and fear which have haunted the project of late. We hope that helps.

After reviewing the scientific findings and talking to the engineers and officials from EDS, we are convinced this is a safe and necessary project. We were more than impressed with the efforts the company had made, long before the controversy arose, to be a good neighbor and a source of revenue for the city. Efforts to provide funds, jobs and community service were in place long before there was any doubt as to the viability of the project or the hue and cry regarding the deep well arose.

We urge those who opposing the project to heed the objective scientific findings and to listen carefully to the engineers and others who understand the operation. Do not operate on emotion, misinformation and gossip being used to manipulate and control public opinion.

Charter needs to be changed

To the editor:

The charter of the city of Westland should be amended to provide more effective representation for citizens at City Hall. Politics in Westland has become a cesspool, with various "insider groups" vying for control. No one has any regard for the interest of the citizens. The taxpayers and their tax dollars are treated like a piece of meat to be fought over by the various "pressure groups." Reforms are desperately needed.

I suggest the following charter amendments:

- That term limits be placed on the office of mayor. The mayor should be limited to one five-year term. Persons serving one term could run again in five years. They merely would not be allowed to serve back-to-back terms. This would ensure that an incumbent would never again be able to crush a challenger with "campaign contributions" from various "interested" persons, contractors and vendors who benefit from city contracts; these contracts are for the most part under the control of an incumbent mayor.

- City council members should be elected partly from wards or districts in the city and partly on an "at large" basis. All sections of the city should have a voice at the council table. The present "at large" system allows the wealthy and influential northern part of the city to impose its agenda on all sections of the city. A ward system would make it cheaper to run for council and would give each part of the city a representative at the council table. I suggest that five council persons be elected from a ward system and three members be elected at large. Council persons should be limited to two consecutive terms of four years each.

- Campaign contributions in city elections should be limited to $200 per person. And lawn sign use should be restricted under the sign ordinance. Lawn signs pollute the visual environment, they are expensive, and they insult the intelligence of the voters. The sign ordinance should be amended to restrict the use of these costly insults to the voters' intelligence.

Registered candidates for city elective positions who agree to the above limitations on spending should be given free 15-minute "blocks" of time on the city cable systems "government channel" to make their arguments to the voters.

The current system desperately needs reform. Some of my suggested reforms are old ideas—like the ward system and term limits. Some are new like the use of cable TV for campaigning. Taken together these reforms could make future elections cleaner, more informative and more representative of the wishes of the majority of the citizens and taxpayers of Westland.

Walter Warren,
Westland Taxpayers Union

Mayor thanks supporters

To the editor:

Dear voters, thank you. The campaign is over and I want to thank all of you who took the time to vote. I especially want to thank all of those who supported me and had enough confidence in me to return me to the office of mayor. I took the election results as a "report card" on our performance and it appears we must be doing what the people want us to do as elected officials. Believe me when I say I plan on keeping up "my grades". I know who my bosses are and I don't plan on forgetting them.

I am looking forward to accomplishing a lot over the next four years. We will continue to concentrate on improving services, building a new library for our citizens, and continuing to keep our taxes low.

We have already begun testing out some leaf pick-up machinery, and did a demonstration on Hazelwood and Donna streets. This particular machine didn't accomplish what we want, but there are others we will be testing. By fall of 1994, we hope to add this to the list of services we provide to you. I am looking forward to working with our city council members on this project and hope to have the support necessary to carry this program through.

I want to also take this opportunity to congratulate our council winners and let them know I am anxious to get on with running our city and working with them. It should be an exciting four years.

Thanks again for your show of support. Let's all look toward a bright future with a positive attitude. Westland is a great place to live. Let's show the rest of the world just how great!

Robert J. Thomas
Mayor of Westland

Meeting attendance is recommended

To the editor:

On Nov. 16, 1993, I attended the Wayne City Council meeting.

Councilman (At) Damito requested that an appointment be postponed in order to allow other nominations. This was turned down.

I did not think this was an unreasonable request.

But our "Good Old Boy" network is alive and going strong in Wayne.

Is it too much to ask that our council be fair regardless of the "party" or sex of those involved?

May I suggest that everyone attend the meetings. It's really enlightening and nothing is missed as sometimes happens on the TV version.

I believe that all citizens need to become more involved if we want our city to move forward instead of rolling over and playing dead.

Supervisor is criticized

To the editor:

Democracy? The type of democracy Supervisor Jacques wants for Van Buren Township is not the kind of democracy I want. His "followers" have tried to do a "snow job" on the citizens of Van Buren regarding the lawsuit that Ms. Heifner and Mr. Kuchta brought against the township. I believe the real issue is not the "lawsuit" but the fact that the township officials did not respond to the "law" on the Freedom of Information Act. I, for one, did not fall for their smoke-screen and I believe the citizens of Van Buren will not either, at least not the people I have talked to.

I think that Ms. Heifner and Mr. Kuchta should be awarded a "badge of courage" to stand up for their rights as citizens of the United States of America. What is that saying, "You can fool some of the people some of the time but not all of the people all of the time".

Karen Honeycutt

Communication by board urged

To the editor:

Residents of Van Buren Township should be able to ask questions of the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees, at any time and on any issue.

This particular issue could cost the taxpayers more than the lawsuit brought against the township by Maxine Reifner and Steve Kuchta. They, and any other citizen, ought to be able to do this without being accused of having a "personal vendetta", "waiting for the Jacques Team members to make a mistake", causing "political grid lock", or making a big thing of a "clerical error".

Glenn falls short, 12-7

Dream in Dome turns into a nightmare before Christmas

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A dream of winning the Class AA state football championship turned into a Nightmare before Christmas in the Pontiac Silverdome for Westland John Glenn High School football players and coach Chuck Gordon Saturday afternoon.

Before a crowd of nearly 14,000 - one of the largest ever to watch a high school football title game - the Rockets fell short of their target, losing to an inspired Dearborn Fordson, 12-7.

A controversial pass interference call that opened the gates for Fordson to score the winning touchdown and a fumble that bounced the Tractors' way were instrumental in the outcome of the title game. Glenn owned the lead and the game until the final four minutes of their biggest battle of the decade.

"We're disappointed. Of course we're disappointed about the outcome of the game," said coach Gordon, who wrapped up his 17th campaign as the Rockets' head coach with a 11-2 record and the Detroit News' Coach of the Year honors.

"But we're not disappointed at the performance of this team," Gordon continued. "We're proud of this team and their effort in the Dome. And we're also proud to have reached the state finals. There are not many teams that can boast of what this team has accomplished this year and over the years."

"We're disappointed. Of course we're disappointed about the outcome of the game. But we're not disappointed at the performance of this team."

- Coach Chuck Gordon

Of the controversial call that kept the Fordson last drive alive in the closing minutes of the game, Gordon said that it was the official's call. "He called it (pass) interference, and that's all there is to it. You can't change that now or forever."

Glenn had Fordson on the ropes for most of the afternoon, but just couldn't pull away from the Tractors who stayed in the game thanks to their defense. After a scoreless first quarter that saw a Rocket threat dissipate after quarterback Brian Morrison engineered a 67-yard drive thanks to the determination of running back Tariq Horne and a couple of pass completions to Derek Besco that got them inside the Fordson 10-yard line.

Then, Morrison fired a pass at Besco in the end zone but the ball was tipped by defender Ron Meyers. The ball eventually wound up in Michael Saad's hands, who was nailed at his own 5-yard line.

Glenn broke the deadlock, however, late in the second quarter when Morrison and Besco combined on a 12-yard strike with 1:14 left in the initial half. Brian Kolb then made it a 7-0 game when he connected on the point after.

Unfortunately for the Rockets, the TD proved to be the last score for the Westlanders for the 1993 campaign.

The Rockets managed to hold Fordson scoreless the entire first half thanks to a tenacious defense spearheaded by James Tenant, Dave Irwin, Jason Batchelder and Jake Henry.

The Glenn title dream began turning into the nightmare early in the third quarter as the Tractors came back and put together a 78-yard drive that culminated in Saad's 5-yard touchdown run with 3:52 left in the period.

Glenn managed to keep the lead, 7-6, when Irwin slipped through the Fordson defensive network and blocked the kick for the extra point.

Glenn's world began to fall apart in the fourth quarter after the Rockets managed to put together another sustained drive that left them 28-yard shy of a touchdown.

With 10 minutes left in the game, the three-time denied state title suitor put on a dazzling display that erased the deficit and gave them the lead and the coveted state crown. The Tractors lost the state titles in 1980, 1982 and 1984 under legendary head coach Charles Jestice, who handed the reins of the team to assistant Jeff Stergalas.

A 12-play, 72-yard drive, perpetuated by the pass interference call, ended with freshman Kamal Jaafar, who replaced the injured Ali Saad late in the second quarter, coming into the Glenn end zone for the decisive touchdown.

Glenn came back in its final drive and drove inside the Tractor 40-yard line before a fourth-down pass was broken up, and that shattered the Rockets hopes for the state title.

Statistically, Fordson also had the edge in first downs, 19-13, and in ball possession: 28:02 to 22:47. Glenn also was penalized four times for 41 yards, while Fordson was slapped with three infractions for 25.

Horne rushed for 101 yards on 19 tries, and Morrison attempted 20 passes and connected on 10 for 133 yards. Brian Besco caught three of those passes for 78 yards while his twin brother, Derek, nabbed two for 13 yards. Incidentally, the Besco twins were named to the All-State Dream Team for their outstanding performances during the 1993 season.

Derek, a 6-1, 195-pound senior, was selected as a line-backer, while Bryan was picked as an end on defense.

The 1993 Glenn football team went down in history for winning more games than any other Rocket team. Their 11-2 overall record stands as a school record.

Wheels crush Twisters

Despite some second-half heroics by the offense, the Toledo Twisters dropped a 7-5 decision to the Detroit Wheels in their inaugural appearance in the United States Indoor Soccer League last week.

Trailing by as much as four goals early in the game, the Twisters came back on goals from Justin Harmon, Randy Burton and Mike Aubrey to close the gap. But the local kickers failed to erase the early deficit.

"We had some problems early in the game," said John Thiede, who is a defender for the Twisters and prepped at Romulus High School. "We came back but never caught up."

Played before a crowd of 250 avid soccer fans, the Twisters-Wheels matchup ushered in the 1993-94 professional soccer season in Canton Township and the area.

The Twisters also got goals from Randy Balconi and Ian Graham.

The Twisters will be back on the field at 7:15 p.m. Friday when they will host the Milwaukee Rampage.

The Twisters' home field is in the Canton Soccerdome. For ticket information, telephone (419) 292-0856. Tickets are priced at $4 for adults and $2 for children.

Wheatley picked 'All-American'

Former Robichaud High School football great, Tyrone Wheatley, added another gem to his crown of accomplishments.

Wheatley ended his junior year with the Wolverines of the University of Michigan by earning a berth on an All-American team.

The 6-1, 226-pound running back has been named to the Football News second-team All-America squad.

Although slowed by injuries in the later stages of the season, Wheatley has rushed 189 times for 1,005 yards for a 5.3 average and 11 touchdowns this season and has piled up 1,403 all-purpose yards, establishing himself as one of the greatest players on offense in Michigan history, according to officials at U of M.

Wheatley, who has scored more career touchdowns than any running back in Wolverine history, is only two TDs shy of the Michigan career total touchdown record owned by Anthony Carter (40 career TDs in the 1979-1982 campaigns).

Wheatley now has 33 career rushing touchdowns, the second highest total in school history.

Wheatley now has 33 career rushing touchdowns, the second highest total in school history.

Wheatley needs just one more rushing touchdown to tie Rick Leach's Michigan career record of 34 rushing touchdowns set in 1975-78. Wheatley has scored 228 career points, nine points behind the legendary Tom Harmon for fourth place in career scoring.

Among his other accomplishments as a Wolverine ball carrier, Wheatley has 41 gains of over 20 yards (27 rushing, four receiving and 10 kickoff returns) and 17 touchdowns of over 20 yards in length (12 rushing, four receiving and one kickoff return).

Wheatley has also broken loose for 10 gains of 50 plus yards in his career (seven rushing, one receiving, and two kickoff returns), including nine TDs of over 50 yards (seven rushing, one receiving and one kickoff return).

An All-America prep while at Robichaud where he led the Bulldogs to a Class B state championship, Wheatley has one more year of college eligibility ahead of him.

In control for the first half against Fordson, Westland John Glenn's saw its dream of a Class AA state football championship turn into a nightmare Saturday afternoon before a crowd of 14,000 plus in the Pontiac Silverdome. The Rockets managed to shut out the Tractors the first two quarters, but gave up single TDs in the next two frames that cost them the state title. As evidenced in the above photo, the defense bottled up Fordson quarterback Ali Barakat (12) most of the early stages of the showdown. Glenn's Bryan Besco (27) crushes the Tractor QB and Dave Irwin (14) is also in on the sack that officials ruled an incomplete pass. In the photo at right, Glenn's Jeromey Cosby (45) is heading toward Fordson's defense. Glenn enjoyed a 7-0 halftime lead, but it was Fordson, which made its fourth appearance in the state finals, that celebrated after the game. The Rockets brought the curtains down to a record-setting 11-2 season, while Fordson finished 12-1.

'All-Area' line-up next week

Although the 1993 high school football season came to a dramatic end last week at the Pontiac Silverdome, there is yet another page to be written before the book on the fall sports season can be closed.

The Associated Newspapers sports staff, in cooperation with the high school coaches in the area, will select their Dream Teams for the fall sports.

The line ups for those mythical teams will appear, starting next week in the ANP sports section.

Selected from the cream of the crop of the teams from the Plymouth- Canton, Salem schools, Westland John Glenn, Wayne Memorial, Belleville, Romulus, Inkster and Robichaud, the traditional All-Area represents the finest young talent in the area.

In the past, All-Area alumni have gone on to star in college and in the professional ranks. The area has boasted such outstanding talent as former University of Detroit great Johnny Long, University of Michigan Tyrone Wheatley, and Detroit Piston power-forward Terry Mills, a former Romulus High School All-America performer.

This year the harvest also is rich in talent. Some - such as the Besco twins Derek and Bryan - have already been honored on All-State and All-Metro teams.

As in the past, the ANP sports staff will also accept nominations from our local fans and readers. If you have any candidate in mind, contact the ANP sports desk by dialing 729-4000 during regular business hours, Monday through Friday, and nominate deserving athletes.

For each of the teams selected, there also will be a Coach of the Year.

Also, area athletic directors are urged to mail or drop off their winter sports schedules. Please mail the schedules to: Associated Newspapers, C/O Sports Department, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne, Mich. 48184.

Canton boasts soccer champs

Canton Township can boast that it is the home of the Little Caesar soccer league champs.

The Canton Kickers finished atop of the standings with an impeccable 11-0 record in the league for boys, 14 and under, in Division II.

However, by finishing first, coach Don Koontz and his Kickers have graduated to Division I this spring.

Krueger, David Koontz, Doug Koontz and Chris Laney.

Bonus Lotto replaced with new twice-a-week game of chance

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

The controversial Bonus Lotto game will soon be history, as sales for the new Michigan Lotto game begin on Sunday. Rather than being a "brand new game," the Michigan Lottery will bring back the features that made pre-Bonus lotto popular - tickets at $1, instead of $2; drawings every Wednesday and Saturday instead of once a week, and elimination of the pesky bonus number.

"I'm happy to see the new game begin," said Mark Sandiha, owner of Castle Market in Belleville. "A lot of people didn't like the bonus numbers. They would match four or five numbers and not have the bonus numbers, so they wouldn't get anything."

Sandiha related several stories about disappointed customers who had brought their "winning" tickets to him, only to discover that the four or five matches were no good without the elusive bonus number.

"People got in a habit of paying $1 for their tickets and buying them twice a week. They never got used to the changes," Sandiha said. "I think the new Michigan Lotto will be 100 percent better for everyone - for the businessman as well as for the state."

Early in the fall, Sandiha predicted that the Bonus Lotto would be replaced before the Christmas holidays.

"I knew it would happen. No one seemed to like the $2 tickets or the bonus number. I haven't heard anyone say that they liked Bonus Lotto better than the former lotto," Sandiha said.

"This holiday season, lottery players can look forward to the start of a traditional lotto game with the introduction of Michigan Lotto," said Michigan Lottery Commissioner

Band to play at 'Fame Bowl'

The Belleville Marching Tigers have accepted an invitation to participate in the Hall of Fame Bowl in Tampa, Fla. from Dec. 27 to Jan. 2.

In addition to performing at half-time on Jan. 1, the bands will be participating in both the Hall of Fame Bowl and the Disney World Parades.

Jerry Crandall. "This new game offers players what they've been asking for - the chance to play lotto twice a week at $1 per play with cash prizes for matching four and five numbers."

In the new Michigan Lotto game, players win the jackpot by matching six of 49 numbers drawn by the lottery. The jackpot will start at $2 million, and if there are no jackpot winners, the money will roll over to the next drawing. Players will win $2,500 for matching five numbers and $100 for matching four numbers.

Ticket sales begin Dec. 5, the day after the Bonus Lotto drawing, and the first Michigan Lotto drawing will be Dec. 8. After that, drawings will be staged every Saturday and Wednesday.

In addition, several new instant games have been introduced during the pre-holiday season. Holiday Cash enables players to win up to $500 by matching three holiday symbols, and two other games, 7-11-21, with a possible payoff of $1,500, and Jokers Wild, with a $1,000 payoff, are currently on sale. Also still on sale is the popular, Wild Time game, which allows players to win up to 10 times on every ticket and provides a top prize of $20,000.

CDs for people who aren't afraid
of heights.

6.58% is the Annual Percentage Yield (APY) you would have earned on a two-year deposit maturing on October 23, 1993. APY is based on historic results and is not intended to indicate future yields or results.

Introducing The Market Rate CD.
Wall Street Thrills Without Wall Street Chills.

Lock Up A Rising Rate With A CD That Won't Lock You In.

This year we're offering you a blue chip opportunity to invest in a new kind of two-year CD. One that allows you to go after Wall Street's potentially higher rates without risking your principal. Your Market Rate CD can be opened with a low $2,000 minimum deposit. At the end of each 52-week period, your interest is calculated based on the average change in the S & P 500® Index**as reported in The Wall Street Journal. And at maturity, you're guaranteed a 100% return of your FDIC-insured initial deposit. The new Market Rate CD. Now the best way to lock in the market's high earnings potential is with a CD that has no risk to principal.

Every six months of its initial two-year term, our Rising Rate CD gives you a guaranteed increase in your interest rate without locking you in. The rate earned for each six-month period rises as the chart above indicates, giving you 4.75% APY during the final six-month period.* You can withdraw all of your investment within the first 10 days of any six-month interval during the initial two-year term without penalty. Or you can make a partial withdrawal without penalty as long as you maintain a $1,000 balance. And the minimum deposit amount is only $1,000. The Rising Rate CD. The liquidity you want, with the guaranteed interest growth you need.

*“My mind is already made up.
Don’t confuse me with the facts.”*

It’s a funny thing about some people. They form swift and strong opinions, but if you ask them why, they don’t have real reasons.

Here in Romulus, some people have convinced themselves that the deep disposal well being built by Environmental Disposal Systems may not be safe. They base that opinion on a vague sense of uneasiness over waste disposal, not on factual information.

We at EDS think the people of Romulus should have the facts before making up their minds.

- Like the fact that there has never been a single incident of contamination from such a well in 25 years of deep well disposal at sites through-out Michigan.
- Or the fact that deep well disposal is the safest, cost effective option available for industrial liquid and hazardous waste disposal.

- And the fact that the well is nearly one mile below the earth’s surface, beneath several impermeable rock formations, at a location identified by geologists and supported by a study performed by the University of Michigan.
- And the fact that the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and Michigan Department of Natural Resources have approved the project.

There are a lot more facts that our professional staff and geologists would like to share with you. We are manning an information line every business day to hear your questions and give you accurate, direct answers.

EDS is committed to being a good neighbor and corporate citizen in Romulus. Before you make up your mind about our project, please hear the facts. Ask us about anything concerning you. Let’s talk.

Sincerely,

The owners, managers and employees of Environmental Disposal Systems

$62,000 Ford Taurus?

Just add up price of parts

Would you pay more than $62,000 for a Ford Taurus? Probably not, but that is the cost of rebuilding one with original equipment manufacturer (OEM) parts.

According to a study conducted by the Alliance of American Insurers, a Ford Taurus with a retail price of $19,095 would total $62,700 if all of its OEM parts were purchased separately. The Alliance conducts this study annually, using a different subject vehicle each year.

"The purpose of this study is to demonstrate the high cost of automobile repairs," explained Alliance President Roger S. Lawson. "Since insurers pay for replacement of damaged auto parts, they must charge premiums which reflect the cost of those parts. For this reason we have been working for several years to lower the cost of auto parts."

Lawson explained that the insurance industry advocates the use of certified competitive replacement parts, also known as "aftermarket parts," because they are less expensive than OEM parts. Certification requires them to be "of like kind and quality" to OEM parts, according to the Certified Automotive Parts Association (CAPA). Only those which have passed rigid tests and have proved to be equal to or better than the OEM parts can receive the CAPA stamp of approval.

The competition created by the sale of parts produced by independent manufacturers has resulted in the price reduction of many OEM parts.

For example, the following parts were all reduced in price after independently made parts entered the market: A 1985 Chevrolet Camaro fender costing $207 was reduced in 1991 to $167 because of competition from a non-OEM fender costing $142. The hood for a Plymouth Voyager which cost $249 in 1987 was reduced to $210 in 1991. And a Ford Escort hood priced at $237 in 1990 dropped to $180 in 1991. This competition is unwelcome by the OEMs, who for many years enjoyed a monopoly in the car parts market. For several years they have been opposing the sale of aftermarket parts through lobbying and advertising campaigns.

For the Taurus, the difference between OEM and aftermarket prices can clearly be seen in the price of the radiator core assembly, which lists for $527.57 by the OEM, and carries an aftermarket price of $322.40 — a savings of $205.17. Ford's rear bumper for the Taurus, listed at $478.52, is nearly $140 higher than its aftermarket competitor's price of $340. Even the air conditioner condenser, with a $200 price tag from Ford, sells for $24 less by the aftermarket dealers.

"In order to control the cost of insurance, we must find ways to reduce the cost of materials and services for which insurance pays," Lawson said. "Car parts fall into that category. We are working through various coalitions to encourage greater competition in the sale of aftermarket parts, and to encourage more independent manufacturers to have their parts CAPA certified."

"Furthermore, we are continuing to work on other factors which impact the cost of auto insurance, including fraud, safety, frivolous lawsuits, and skyrocketing health care costs."

The Alliance is a national trade association representing approximately 200 property and casualty insurance companies. Data for the Alliance replacement parts study was provided by Iowa Auto Damage Appraisers.

Ford donates $11.8 million

The highest single contribution to any United Way in the country was announced by Ford Motor Co. at a 1993 United Way Torch Drive luncheon in Detroit.

The contribution, totaling $11,855,273, consists of $10,525,273 from Ford hourly and salaried employees in the tri-county area, and $1.33 million from the Ford Motor Company Fund. Included in the amount were the contributions from the Ford Body and Assembly Plant and the Ford Michigan Truck Plant, both in Wayne.

"This gift shows that Ford employees are committed to helping those in need in our community," said David McCammon, Ford Motor Co. vice-president.

"We didn't come here to preach abstinence, we came to request responsibility," Belleville City Manager Jeff Przygocki, chairman of the Substance Abuse Task Force, commenting on a non-alcohol cocktail party sponsored by the group.

Of Note

Drunk driver arrested for third time

A 42-year-old Belleville motorist was arrested and charged with a third offense driving under the influence of liquor by Romulus police on Dec. 1.

Rogert Dale Smith Sr. was stopped at Hannan and Tyler roads in Romulus after he was found weaving across the center line on Hannan Road and running off onto the shoulder, police said.

Traffic records show that earlier DUI offenses occurred in Romulus in 1984, Monroe in 1985 and Ann Arbor in 1987. Romulus police said the "third offense" category is listed in the complaint for any such action that has occurred three or more times.

Smith was arraigned in the 34th District Court and later released on personal bond.

New Salvation Army leader arrives

Lt. Col. and Mrs. William J. Speck, originally from Flint, Mich., have begun their leadership roles in the Salvation Army's Eastern Michigan Division. They replace Lt. Col. and Mrs. Clarence Harvey, who have been transferred to the Chicago area.

Speck, whose offices are located in Southfield, expressed excitement at arriving in the Metro Detroit area "during such a fast paced time of the year."

"We have quite a challenge to achieve in raising the $3.7 million goal by Christmas and we're already lagging behind. There's a lot of needy people in Detroit (and western Wayne County) and we're here to help and serve them," he said.

Speck, who was commissioned as an Army officer in 1964, previously served as the business administration secretaries for the Canada and Bermuda Territory in Toronto.

Customer foils robbery attempt

A robbery attempt by four alleged perpetrators was foiled Monday night by a customer who exited the Farmer Jack store, located at 34414 Ford Road in Westland, at the right time, according to Westland police.

A 16-year-old girl was confronted by four unarmed male youths outside the Farmer Jack store around 9:30 p.m., Westland police Sgt. Don Haigh said.

The alleged perpetrators exited an older-model dark gray car and approached the victim as she walked across the parking lot toward her car.

One of the alleged robbers told the girl to "give me your coat." The alleged victim, who was wearing a black and white leather U.S.A. coat reached in her pocket and handed the perpetrators $3, Haigh said.

The girl was beginning to remove her coat when a customer left the store, and the four youths, apparently frightened, fled the scene without the jacket, Haigh said.

School board member files assault charge

Witnesses' accounts of an altercation between former Wayne-Westland School Board member Sharon Felan and current board member Patricia Brown during a recent school board meeting, differed markedly.

Felan filed a statement with Westland police Monday afternoon denying accusations that she physically assaulted Brown during a Nov. 23 school board meeting.

Felan's statement comes in response to a police report filed by Brown following the confrontation. In Brown's statement to police, she accused Felan of shoving her during a 1-1/2 minute argument in the hallway of the board meeting room, Westland police officer Debra Matthews said.

No injuries were sustained by either party and the incident is under investigation, Matthews added.

Felan, accompanied by her attorney Michael Ostroski, gave her statement to police Monday afternoon citing four witnesses who, Ostroski said, would deny any physical confrontation.

Felan admits to arguing with Brown regarding her vote to approve the middle school concept, while later voting to deny approval of a director of curriculum, Ostroski said.

"There were two votes. Brown voted no to a curriculum director, but yes to the middle school concept. Felan was upset over the no vote, after Brown had voted yes on the middle school concept," Ostroski said.

Felan served on the board of education for 11 months prior to the election in June when Brown was elected.

Ostroski said Brown and Felan were arguing for approximately 1-1/2 minutes in the presence of Brown's roommate, Barbara Hodgkins, when Assistant Superintendent Gary Dell and board member Vicky Welty went into the hallway to quiet the conversation which could be heard throughout the board meeting room. Board member Laurel Raisanen and Colleen Hafkamp also witnessed the argument before leaving the building.

Raisanen said she walked by Felan and Brown as the were arguing and said she saw no physical confrontation.

"When I was on my way outside, they were talking loudly," Raisanen said.

Raisanen added that she recalled seeing Hafkamp as she walked by the two, and that Felan and Hafkamp exited the building a short while later.

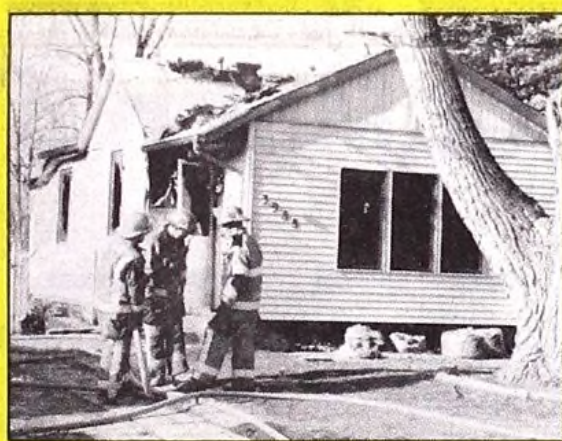

"When Sharon came outside, she didn't appear that upset. I can't believe Sharon would ever lose control," Raisanen added.

Hafkamp said she was leaving to go home when the argument occurred. "I saw Sharon get up and leave ... right at the tail end of the board's conversation when the extra administrator was voted down," Hafkamp said.

Hafkamp said Felan went into the board room

Blaze guts Wayne home

By MARGO DEWEY
Deputy News Editor

A fire destroyed a home Nov. 30 on the west side of Wayne leaving nothing salvageable except memories for the family of six who survived the tragedy without injury.

Wayne firefighters arrived at 3988 Grace Street at approximately 10:10 a.m., according to Wayne Fire Chief Wayne Bennett.

"The 3-year-old member of the family was apparently playing with a cigarette lighter in the closet which started the fire," Bennett said. "The fire completely destroyed the house. It is a total loss."

There are four children in the family, and Bennett said two were at school and two were at home at the time the incident occurred.

Nineteen firefighters including Bennett and Deputy Fire Chief Michael O'Brien battled the blaze for nearly two hours.

No other homes were damaged as a result of the fire. Bennett said the family is staying with relatives in the neighborhood.

Despite the best efforts of Wayne firefighters, this home was gutted last week when a 3-year-old playing with a lighter caused a blaze which totally destroyed the structure. ANP photo by Ken Garner

"We also had a fire at a home on the east end of town Dec. 1 where another youngster was playing with a lighter," Bennett said. "Only one room was damaged in that home."

Because children have a natural curiosity toward fire, Bennett recommended parents find a safe place to store lighters and matches.

"They should keep lighters and matches in a place where children can't reach them," Bennett said.

County sheriff's deputy is target

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A Wayne County Sheriff's deputy was shot at while patrolling a high drug-trafficking area in Inkster. The law enforcement officer's vehicle was struck three times. The officer was not injured, according to Wayne County deputy chief Anthony Shannon.

Inkster police investigators on Thursday said that they have taken into custody a 17-year-old Inkster youth in connection with the shooting. The suspect will be remanded to the sheriff's department for questioning, Inkster Detective James Vergona said.

The shooting occurred in the Pine and Hickory street area in the southeast section of the city.

"We have not talked to the suspect. We plan to do that as soon as we can get someone out there to pick him up."

Anthony Shannon
Wayne County deputy chief

Deputy Michael Duffy was on patrol when he spotted a group of several youths standing around a vehicle. He turned his vehicle around to investigate and the youths scattered, according to police reports of the incident.

Duffy reported that he heard what appeared to be gun shots. He called for assistance and several sheriff's vehicles responded and saturated the area. The suspect was later arrested at his home after police interviewed several witnesses.

Police said that Duffy was not injured, however, at least three of the five bullets struck the police vehicle. Two struck the tail light while the third entered the left passenger-side door.

"We have not talked to the suspect," said Shannon, on Thursday. "We plan to do that as soon as we can get someone out there to pick him up."

Under a long-time agreement with the city of Inkster, Wayne County deputies have patrolled secondary roads and provided law enforcement services to the residents of Inkster.

Council delays decision

By JENNIFER PLACINTO

Residential petitions and a recommendation of denial from the city planning commission led Westland City Council members to postpone a decision on a proposal to rezone a residential area in order to construct a Perry Drug store.

Council members will study the request to rezone the property, located on the west side of Yale north of Ford Road, from single-family residential to low-intensity commercial was recommended for denial by the Planning Commission because "the rezoning would be too intensive for residential uses to the north and west."

The commission was also concerned that if rezoned to low-intensity commercial, other larger establishments, such as grocery stores, could be built on the site.

The proposed plan was not in accordance with the objectives of the City Future Land Use Plan and the planning commission concurred that the current residential zoning is suitable for the site.

"This proposed amendment would be detrimental to the public interest," Westland Planning Commission Chairman Billy Deeter wrote in a letter to city council.

Nearby residents agreed and some 70 petitions were submitted from several area residents, some of which voiced their disapproval at a public council meeting Nov. 15.

Resident Richard Ziolkowski was concerned about the increased traffic if the possible 24-hour drug store was constructed.

"Residents feel too much delivery traffic comes through the residential area already," Ziolkowski said.

Perry representative Anthony Rea said he did not foresee a traffic problem.

However, Councilwoman Sharon Scott asked why another area drug store was needed when there was another one only two blocks away.

"There are so many other available parcels you could look at," Scott added.

Tie one on

Slogan takes on a new meaning for holidays

In the past, the term "tie one on" signified an excessive drinking spree, but today the terminology has taken on an entirely different message.

Currently, to "tie one on" means to attach a red ribbon on one's car antenna or door handle to remind other motorists not to drink and drive.

The anti-drunk driving campaign, launched by the Mothers Against Drunk Driving, has been taken up by Students Against Drunk Driving and state, county and local police departments. Red ribbons are available at no charge from area police stations through the holidays.

Also joining the campaign is Detroit Edison, which is inviting its 2 million customers in southeastern Michigan to "tie one on for the holiday season." The ribbons have been distributed to 9,000 employees and more than 12,000 teachers and students plus numerous community organizations.

"The best gift we can offer our community is a safe, sober holiday season," said John Lobb, Detroit Edison chairman and chief executive officer.

AAA Michigan sponsored its 13th annual Zero-Proof Mix-Off non-alcoholic drink contest this year. It is one element of the AAA-sponsored "First a Friend, Then A Host" program, which focuses on providing alcohol-free cocktails at holiday parties.

AAA Michigan also provides the following ABCs of party giving:

- A - Alcohol awareness. Keep the cocktail hour short and have a responsible person serve measured drinks. Provide alternatives to alcohol by serving festive non-alcohol drink. Also, don't force drinks on guests.

- B - Buffets should be well stocked with protein-rich and starchy foods to help retard the absorption of alcohol into the bloodstream. For example, pasta or potato dishes, cookies and pastries.
  - C - Car pool by encouraging designated drivers and make sure they refrain from alcohol during the party. Do not allow an intoxicated guest to drive. Call a cab, drive the guest home or make other arrangements.
- Motorists who drink and drive face tough laws which went into effect on Jan. 1, 1992.
- Provisions of the law include:
- Police can confiscate and destroy the license of a driver who fails or refuses to take a breath/chemical test. Should that happen, the driver will be issued a temporary permit good for 77 days, the new deadline to resolve drunk driving cases in court.
  - A first-offense conviction carries a mandatory minimum 30-day license suspension for someone operating under the influence of intoxicating liquor, other drugs or unlawful blood alcohol level.

- Licensing sanctions will be based on driving records, so the courts or Department of State cannot treat habitual offenders as first offenders.
- The fine for driving with a suspended or revoked license jumps from $100 to $500 for a first offense and up to $1,000 for subsequent offenses.

Mayor whips up prize-winning punch

winning ingredients: raspberry sherbet, fruit punch, cream soda, 7-Up and whole raspberries.

"It was a recipe that I first tried out about 10 or 12 years ago when I hosted a party," said Silvenis. "I'd never been to event like this one before, and it really had a nice spirit and atmosphere plus a good turnout for an initial effort."

Silvenis noted that the absence of alcohol did not seem to dampen the spirit of the party-goers.

"People make their own good times," the Belleville mayor said.

Chesley Odom, president of the Belleville Area Council for the Arts, prepared two punches - a Pink Flamingo with strawberries, banana and cranberry-apple juice plus a Cocktail Cooler featuring a combination of fruits and sparkling beverage.

"The party was well received, and our guests seemed to have an excellent time. We received many requests to host another non-alcohol cocktail party next year, and we hope to make in an annual event," said Jeff Przygocki, Belleville city manager and chairman of the SAFT.

The Belleville Kiwanis Club received a prize for having the most members in attendance. Also attending the party at the Belleville Area Museum, were members of the Belleville Lions Club, Rotary Club, Head Start, Community Care Center and residents of the three communities.

"Some $400 was raised for the substance abuse programs, which includes the Drug Awareness Resistance Education program in the schools."

Przygocki said the party served a dual purpose. It was a fund-raising event for the SATF, and it also provided ideas for serving non-alcohol refreshments to individuals who host holiday gatherings.

"There is a growing awareness about responsible drinking. We find that owners of party stores and establishments that serve liquor also are concerned about responsible drinking," he said. "We are not saying 'don't drink during the holidays,' but we are saying, 'if you do drink, be responsible about it.'"

Przygocki told the group that an important way to illus-

After samples of 10 tasty punches were sipped at the non-alcohol cocktail party, hosted by the Belleville-Van Buren-Sumpter Substance Abuse Task Force (SATF), the Raspberry Rumble concocted by Belleville Mayor Glenn Silvenis was judged the winner.

The mayor's entry, on behalf of the city, was one of several punches submitted by service groups and community organizations.

Organizers of the event were Przygocki, Belleville High School Principal Larry Tabor, who also serves as hallway approximately one minute before she walked out of the board room.

Hafkamp said the two were having a "heated discussion" when she passed by, but said she did not see any physical confrontation. Hafkamp said she exited the building before administrators came to quiet the conversation.

"I was there the minute I heard Sharon's voice elevated. I got up to tell them to take it outside. I did not see any physical confrontation whatsoever," Welty said.

"I've never seen Mrs. Felan display any kind of aggressive force, except for verbal," Welty added.

"They came out and saw that my client hadn't touched anybody in any way," Ostroski said.

Brown then returned to the board meeting and Felan left the building. Ostroski said he will seek statements from the four witnesses if Felan is charged with assault and battery.

Brown's attorney, Sandra Cicirelli, said her client was shoved while she was talking with her roommate (Hodgkins) and that the assault occurred prior to the argument and that is why the other witnesses did not see the alleged assault.

"I think that Sharon came right at her - shoved her as Barb (Hodgkins) and Trish (Brown) were talking," Cicirelli said.

"My understanding is that the people came to see what the commotion was about after the assault had already occurred," Cicirelli said.

Brown alleges that Felan was offered a lie detector test by the police department but refused the procedure. Matthews would only confirm that the test had been offered to Felan.

Assistant Superintendent of Schools Gary Dell would not comment on the incident, although he was reportedly a witness to the argument.

Police are continuing to interview witnesses in the incident and have made no determination as yet in the investigation.

Assault and battery is a misdemeanor charge and is punishable by up to 90 days in jail and/or a $500 fine.

Woman will face drug charge after search and seizure review by judge

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

A Westland woman charged with possession of cocaine, who had her preliminary examination in Westland 18th District Court delayed so the judge could review cases regarding search and seizure practices, was bound over to Detroit Recorder's Court for trial on Thursday.

Julia Deanne Zebrank, 34, was originally charged with cocaine possession and interfering with a police officer following the Sept. 7 incident in which Zebrank and another man were stopped when an officer on patrol noticed a broken windshield in the vehicle they occupied.

Westland police officer Ryan Cressman testified that he stopped the vehicle around noon on the corner of Warren and Wayne roads at the First Federal Bank parking lot in Westland after observing a broken windshield.

When Cressman asked the driver to produce a license the man could not and Cressman asked him to step out of his car. When the driver got out, Cressman noticed what appeared to be a 9 millimeter gun between the driver seat and console and immediately seized it, discovering it was a toy gun. Zebrank told the officer she carried the facsimile gun for

"A citizen does not have to sit idly by and have her rights trampled on. The fourth amendment doesn't allow search without warrant based on curiosity."

defense attorney protection.

The man was arrested for driving without a license, handcuffed and placed in the police vehicle, Cressman testified. The officer then approached the passenger side of the vehicle and asked Zebrank to step out so he could search the car. Cressman testified he decided to search the vehicle because he found the facsimile gun and thought there may be other weapons in the car.

After Zebrank walked to the rear of the car, Cressman began to search the car and was grabbing the defendant's purse which was open, when Zebrank "became belligerent and threatening," Cressman testified.

"She began to push me while I searched the car," Cressman said.

"A citizen does not have to sit idly by and have her rights trampled on," defense attorney Arthur Weiss argued.

Cressman arrested Zebrank for interfering in a police search and searched the woman's black leather purse finding two pill vials filled with what appeared to be cocaine. The alleged drugs were confiscated and Cressman also found a butterfly knife in the vehicle glove compartment, according to testimony.

The driver paid bond and was released at the scene, the car was impounded and Zebrank was taken to the station and charged with possession of drugs and hindering a police officer. No tickets or violation were issued for the facsimile handgun, which is illegal to carry in a car under city ordinance, or for the butterfly knife, Cressman confirmed.

Weiss asked Cressman why he didn't place the purse in his patrol vehicle and take it to the station to get a search warrant.

"The fourth amendment doesn't allow search without warrant based on curiosity," Weiss said.

The interference charges were later dropped and Zebrank faces the possession charge, which her lawyer disputed as an unreasonable search.

"Was there reason to give him rise to search that vehicle?" Weiss asked. Weiss argued that in order to legally search the vehicle, a "full-blown custodial arrest" should have been done. Since the driver posted bond at the scene, the arrest did not warrant a search, Weiss argued.

Prosecuting attorney Maria

Peto argued that since an arrest was made and Zebrank admitted to owning the car and the gun, there was probable cause to search the vehicle and vehicle contents.

Judge C. Charles Bokos agreed saying since the driver was arrested for having no license and the officer observed a facsimile gun in the vehicle, which is a violation of local ordinance, the officer had probable cause to search the vehicle.

"I think under those circumstances the officer handled it reasonably," Bokos said.

Zebrank posted bond and could face up to four years in prison if convicted of the possession charge.

Comedian constructs dual careers

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

Does this sound familiar? A western Wayne County resident, who does home improvements, is also pursuing a career as a stand-up comedian.

No, we're not talking about comic Tim Allen of Home Improvement fame. The carpenter-comedian is Westland resident Jim McLean, who is constructing successful careers in both the fields of entertainment and building.

McLean performed the opening act for Allen's September appearance at the Fisher Theatre, and also built a deck for the television actor's Beverly Hills (Michigan) home.

McLean will perform at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow (Dec. 6) at Mark Ridley's Comedy Castle in Royal Oak along with Joel Zimmer of Plymouth. Headlining the event, which is a fund raiser for the Epilepsy Center, will be comedian Drew Carey.

Growing up in the northern part of Westland, McLean attended schools in the Livonia School District, where his comic talents blossomed.

"I was one of those kids that would imitate the teacher when he left the room. All the kids would be laughing when he got back, but he wouldn't know why," McLean said. "I did this through high school, but then the result was many serious discussions with the teachers after class."

The Westland man numbers himself among the John Glenn High School Rockets fan, and played football with the Westland Youth Athletic Association.

"Westland was a great place

"Westland was a great place to grow up in. I lived near Hines Park, and I had kind of a Mark Twain-Huckleberry Finn childhood catching frogs and hiking in the woods."

Jim McLean

to grow up in. I lived near Hines Park, and I had kind of a Mark Twain-Huckleberry Finn childhood catching frogs and hiking in the woods," McLean said. "Most kids who live in urban areas don't have that opportunity."

McLean comes from a family of natural comedians.

"My dad's whole family are light-hearted and naturally funny. Whenever we get together with my aunts and uncles everyone's got something funny to relate. It's not competitive. No one tries to one-up the others, because they are just natural comedians," McLean said.

After high school, McLean worked as an intern for radio station WABX.

"I decided that I didn't want to pursue a career in radio, because personalities change so quickly. One day you may be in Detroit, but if things don't work out, you're in Albuquerque tomorrow," McLean said. "I wanted to stay in the Detroit area. In fact, I still love the area and want to stay here."

McLean took a job with a carpentry firm as a "go-fer," and worked his way up to a journeyman carpenter and then to owning his own business.

"Sam Moraco and I own Muraca Building Co., which I'm very serious about. We did restoration work for the Weller Carriage House in Saline and built a gazebo at Madonna College," McLean said. "We also built a deck for Tim Allen," McLean said.

Along with performing in comedy clubs, making stage appearances and pursuing his carpentry work, McLean also is a comedy writer.

"I write from 6 to 7:30 a.m. Both of my writing partners have day jobs, and this is the only time we can get together," McLean said. "We've locally produced Live and Kicking. Two two episodes are completed, and we're working on two movie screen plays," he said.

Although McLean's schedule is busy, he takes time to perform in benefits "because so many good things have happened to me during the past five years, and I want to give something back."

Tickets for the First Annual Laugh Revue to benefit the Epilepsy Center are $25 per person or $40 per couple and include a pre-show reception. Reservations can be obtained by calling 351-7979.

Council fails to override mayor's veto of pension hike

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Westland police and fire retirees will not see an increase in their retirement benefits under a vetoed plan previously approved by Westland City Council members in mid-November.

Westland City Council members did not override the mayor's veto of a police and fire retirees pension plan increase Tuesday night due to the lack of a formal motion by council members. Despite the defeat of the proposal, several council members said the pension increase was not a "dead issue" as far as they were concerned.

Council member Sharon Scott said she believes the council should revisit the issue once newly-elected city council members David Cox and Charles Griffin take office in January.

"When the president of the council is appointed, a new committee should be formed to look into this," Scott said.

The controversial retirement plan was approved by four council members and rejected by two, with one abstention from council member Sharon Scott, whose husband is a retired former fire chief.

Council members Tom Brown, Sandra Cicirelli, Kenneth Mehl and Council President Charles Pickering approved the measure at a Nov. 15 council meeting, which would have increased the pensions of four retirees who received less than $20,000 per year. The plan would have allowed the retirees a one-time $2,000 increase effective Jan. 1, 1994 and a one-time additional 5-percent increase in the yearly pension after the retiree or spouse has completed six years of regular retirement status.

Council members Glenn Anderson and Terri Reighard-Johnson rejected the proposal which would provide retirees or surviving spouses receiving more than $20,000 per year and having completed six full years of regular retirement status with a one-time adjustment to their monthly pension of 5-percent beginning Jan. 1, 1994.

Westland Mayor Robert J. Thomas, who was unable to attend the special council meeting because he was on vacation, vetoed the plan, citing it as "unfair" to other city retirees and residents. Deputy Mayor George Gillies read a letter to council on the mayor's behalf.

"Over the past four years I have rarely vetoed a resolution put into effect by council ... I believe the pension issue is one of those exceptions," Thomas wrote.

"Not only will it cost a lot of money, with nothing in return for the taxpayers, it will hamper future negotiations with all of our unions. I also feel it is unfair to hand out pension increases to one employee group of retirees when other retired employee groups live on much less. As a matter of fact, many of our citizens who “Westland's retirement system is a very high cost item to the city. Between now and budget negotiations ... we'll have to start looking at what we're doing with future negotiations.”

Charles Pickering

work full time make less money than what some of the retired police and fire personnel collect in pension today,” Thomas added.

Some of the retirees that could have received increases under the failed plan receive pensions ranging from $30,000 to $40,000 a year.

“The plan could have far-reaching implications and could cost this city up to a half million dollars,” Thomas added.

Some citizens expressed disbelief that the council would approve the measure without knowing what it would cost the city. According to Finance Director Mike Gorman, figures on the costs were not available at the Nov. 15 meeting when the proposal was approved by council.

“We have two former mayors on council. They should know the cost effect and where this money will come from. Why consider this without the facts?” Westland resident Jim Davis asked.

Cost analysis information, however, was provided to council members prior to the Tuesday night special meeting. Figures indicated the plan would cost the city a total of $807,045.

Angry citizens attended the meeting to voice their disapproval of a possible override on Thomas' veto of the plan.

“I exist on less than $10,000 a year. I think it's terrible that you're even thinking of giving these people a raise on retirement,” retired Westland resident Modena Seber said.

“I would like each one of you to walk in my shoes for a week. I don't live, I exist,” Seber said.

“If you approve this,” Westland retired resident Mildred Evans said, “there will be one of the biggest recalls you've ever heard of.”

Westland Fire Department retiree Bob Stottlemeyer said he believes controversy over the proposed plan has gotten out of hand.

“Why isn't the mayor here tonight to face us? We don't make a lot of money,” Stottlemeyer said.

Council members Sandra Cicirelli, Kenneth Mehl and Charles Pickering agreed that the issue has been seen by the public as one-sided.

“The Pandora's Box was opened in 1988 when police were awarded a one time 5-percent increase in their contracts,” Cicirelli said.

“Fifty-nine have asked for this. The group will not grow because they are covered by other contracts,” Cicirelli said.

However, Cicirelli said she would not vote for the override due to the number of concerned citizens who have approached her regarding this issue.

Mehl argued that current police and firemen received pension increases and retirees should get the same.

“We should represent people all the way across the board,” Mehl said.

Mehl and Pickering said when the vetoed retirees pension increase is compared to other union contracts, the plan is equitable.

“The big picture is coming and I'm part of that big picture,” Pickering said.

Pickering said he plans to seek a complete report from the administration listing what each union contract has bargained for pensions since union contracts will be negotiated in January.

“What we're doing is no different than past retirement policies. Westland's retirement system is a very high cost item to the city. Between now and budget negotiations ... we'll have to start looking at what we're doing with future negotiations,” Pickering said.

Pickering said the proposed budget must be submitted to the mayor by April 1, 1994 and he intends to seek the pension information prior to the submission of that budget.

The vetoed-proposal was a revised version of the original request made in late July. The first proposal requested a one-time adjustment increase ranging from $765 to $2,000 per retiree and a 2-percent annual increase or 50-percent of the cost of living, whichever is higher, for retirees whose pensions are less than $30,000.

Inkster man faces 30-year prison term in shooting death

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

ALL HARBOR HIGH, convicted of second-degree murder in the stabbing death of 42-year-old Westland resident Jeffrey Dansby in mid-March, was sentenced by Detroit Recorder's Judge Prentis Edwards to 20 to 30 years in prison.

Christopher Kent Young, 39, was convicted by jury in Detroit Recorder's Court Nov. 17 for the murder of Dansby, whose body was found in his Blue Gardens Apartment, located on Cherry Hill Road between Merriman and Venoy on March 22.

Police arrested Young some two months after the discovery of Dansby's body found lying in a pool of blood in his apartment bedroom by Westland police. Police located the body after being notified Dansby was missing. Police believe Dansby was killed two days prior to the discovery of his body.

Young contended that a attempted homosexual rape caused him to defend himself.

During the attempted rape, Young allegedly grabbed the knife and stabbed Dansby three times in the chest and three times in the back, Westland police Sgt. Don Haigh said.

Defense Attorney Stephen Remski argued Young gave four statements to police, but they were not all written down. Remski contended that Young was forced to have oral sex with Dansby at knife point and when Dansby set the knife down and attempted to rape him, Young grabbed the weapon and stabbed the victim.

Prosecuting attorney Jane Crammer argued that in Young's first statement to police, he denied being at the apartment when the victim was killed, but did say he was there previously and had touched things in the apartment accounting for his fingerprints.

“He never said it was self-defense in his first statement or attempted rape,” Crammer said.

Crammer also argued that Young's later statement that he “bucked” Dansby off him so that Dansby stood up, was impossible due to Young's small stature and the fact that Dansby weighed nearly 200 pounds.

Crammer reported that one of Young's statements revealed he and the victim had known each other for a couple weeks and were in Dansby's apartment, smoking crack (cocaine) and drinking alcohol when Dansby pulled out a knife and told Young he was going to rape him, Young told police.

Cecile Dansby, sister of the victim, who worked with the victim at the Speakeasy Bar, located in Garden City, testified she met Young around 8 p.m. on March 21 when Dansby introduced her to him. Dansby returned to the bar early the next morning to buy vodka, according to waitress Lisa Gardner, who testified she spoke with Dansby when he came to buy some vodka around 1:45 a.m. Gardner said Dansby told her he had a date and that his “ride was waiting in the car.”

Crammer argued that if Dansby was intending to rape someone, why would it be someone who knows where he works and lives and can report the attack to police.

Crammer also reported that Young suffered no injuries during the alleged attack in which Dansby was stabbed six times.

“We're talking about a struggle, yet nothing happened to him,” Crammer said.

Recounting Haigh's testimony that he found a neatly folded sheet and sweater on the bed when the body was discovered, Crammer said a struggle on the bed with two men seems unlikely.

“How did they (sheet and sweater) stay on the bed when a struggle on the bed was going on,” Crammer asked. “This tells you that no struggle took place the way Young described,” Crammer said.

Crammer also questioned why, if the struggle occurred the way Young described, were the victim's socks soaked with blood. She also asked why Young felt it was necessary to stab Dansby six times when any one of the three stab wounds to the chest could have been fatal.

“He put one in and twisted until Dansby did the death rattle ... until he thought he was dead,” Crammer said.

Crammer also reported that after the murder, Young admitted to searching the victim's pockets for money, stealing a television, video cassette recorder and a stereo from Dansby's apartment and loading the items into the victim's car and driving off.

“The body was not even cold yet and Young began going through Mr. Dansby's pockets for money,” Crammer said.

“It's a sad sad state of affairs what the need for crack cocaine can do to people,” Crammer said, describing Young's actions as cold and desperate.

Karaoke Music lures amateurs to microphones

Although karaoke means empty orchestra in Japanese, many Americans speculate that it could be more realistically translated as "sing in public, even if you can't carry a tune."

The karaoke craze has brought would-be singers out from the sidelines, and put them into the spotlight. Almost everyone - without any practice or instruction - can sing along with the karaoke music. While performing popular tunes before an audience they can sound, at least to their own ears, like professional singers.

While it seems to be a new phenomenon, karaoke can trace its history to the sing-alongs of the '50s and '60s and, before that, the movies that featured songs to sing while watching "the bouncing ball."

Bars and clubs throughout the area feature karaoke, some of them specializing in children's music in the afternoons. As if that were not enough, karaoke is now being performed in homes with machines costing from a $100 to several hundred dollars.

Karaoke, which originated in Japan, has swept the U.S. like wildfire in the '90s, attracting singers who follow the various disc jockeys from club to club to croon their favorite tunes.

The machines use tapes or compact discs with a selection of popular tunes, accompanied by a video screen with lyrics and scenes. All the karaoke singer has to do is grab a microphone - and, perhaps, a few friends for back-up - and choose one of a 1,000 or more tunes to sing.

So what if you aren't Kenny Rogers, Frank Sinatra, Billy Joel or Frankie Avalon, when the mike is in your hand, you're the undisputed star.

Music creates instant singing stars

When Bill Manning chose a name for his karaoke company, he selected "Fun Time," because he believes having fun is what karaoke is all about.

"It's a lot of good, clean fun. There's a bit of a singer in all of us, and the karaoke gives everyone a chance to be a singing star," Manning said. "The words are right in front of the singers, so they can follow the lyrics line by line if haven't memorized the song."

"If the singer gets lost, I can tune the voice up or I'll join them for a few lines until they feel comfortable again," Manning said, adding that making the amateur singer feel comfortable is an important part of his job.

During a benefit for the Huron Valley Conservation Association, Manning brought the audience out to sing such varied tunes as The Rose, Elvira, Rocky Top and Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star.

Although the karaoke started out in pubs and bars, Manning noted that it can be performed at any social gathering - parties, weddings, reunions or holiday events - and is an excellent way to entertain guests.

Bill Manning

Manning, a Romulus resident, has been involved in music all of his life, and currently teaches square dancing classes.

"I really enjoy what I'm doing. The karaoke is a good way to express yourself and to help other people to express themselves," he said. "I think everyone enjoys being a performer, and this gives them a chance to be in the spotlight."

Manning finds it difficult to name the most popular tunes among the more than 1,400 songs in his system.

"The songs vary with each age group and at each place. The older people like some of the old songs, some like the country tunes or rock, and the younger crowds enjoy the new, popular songs," Manning said. "We have some nursery rhymes and children's tunes for youngsters."

Manning said karaoke is an entertainment that appeals to all ages.

"When I have my equipment set up at home, my son and his friends always want to try it out," he said. "It's an entertainment that can be enjoyed by tots, teens, young adults, families and senior citizens. It's really something for everyone, and not many other forms of entertainment are like that."

Questions about karaoke entertainment can be directed to Manning at 941-1397.

Loa Donlon (top) sings into the microphone several times during the evening. Although she has a beautiful singing voice, Loa clearly doesn't take compliments on her singing too seriously. Craig Mizell reaches for a low note.

Toddlers teach parents a lesson

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Nowhere does that appear to be more true than at the McKinley Cooperative Preschool in Westland where a group of toddlers provides lessons in parenting every week.

Parents of McKinley students participate in their children's educations and strive for a positive educational experience for their children and all those at the facility.

Bernadette Hamilton, a nursery consultant for the Greater Detroit Cooperative Nursery Council (GDCNC), recently spoke to area parents participating in the Westland cooperative program about the benefits of being involved in their children's educations.

McKinley is located in Good Shepherd Reformed Church at 6500 N. Wayne Road in Westland and is the only cooperative preschool located in Westland, class representative Becky Steckroth said. The school is not affiliated with the church or any religious group.

Classes are offered for children ages 2, 3 and 4 years old and parents participate directly in their children's educations by accompanying students to school and aiding in learning activities. Parents are not required to attend school on a daily basis with their child, but rather rotate the days they work with other parents.

Hamilton recounted her first experience with a cooperative preschool when her daughter, then age 3, began attending school. During the first year, Hamilton was hospitalized for surgery and assumed she would have to take her child out of class as she would be unable to participate.

However, Hamilton was pleasantly surprised when other parents offered to take her daughter to school.

"Because of that I had to stay in co-op. I thought it was the best toddler program I've seen," Hamilton said.

Parents who help each other with child rearing tend to become close friends and keep in touch, Hamilton added.

"Right here is where you'll have your friends," Hamilton added.

"I learned to get along with people. Nowhere else do you work so closely with people. There are a lot of benefits ... but you do have rules," Hamilton said.

Hamilton said in one instance, a mother repeatedly arrived for co-op intoxicated and had to be dismissed from the program for insurance and health department reasons.

"One year we had a mother come late all the time. She got a $5 fine every time she was late, but she didn't seem to mind. So we changed the rules. Every time a parent was one minute late, they were fined $10 per day," Hamilton said.

The rules were changed, Hamilton said, because the mother's tardiness was affecting class activities.

Hamilton stressed that parents involved in cooperative education receive just as much as they put into the program.

"There is a lot of time in-

*"Right here is where you'll have your friends. I learned to get along with people. Nowhere else do you work so closely with people. There are a lot of benefits ... but you do have rules. involved in co-op, but it will be worth your time. The best benefit is the job training for parents. You can learn from the time you spend in co-op," Hamilton said.

One thing parents learn from the cooperative experience is compromise with children. One mother had difficulty with her daughter who always wanted to pick out her own mismatched outfits. The mother made a deal with her daughter that her daughter could choose her own outfits one day and her mother would pick out her outfit the next. Hamilton said she was having the same difficulties with her daughter so she gave this method a try and it worked.

Hamilton also added that this experience aids in developing communication skills and staying involved with your child's education.

"As you leave co-op, you'll be involved in Girl Scouts, etc. and you'll stay involved," Hamilton said.

"The theme of co-op is learning and growing with your child," she added.

Hamilton said there is a major difference between regular schooling and cooperative education.

"When my daughter went to kindergarten, that was the real world. They want you to be involved, but they don't want you to interfere," she said.

"The only time you can be involved is now. We're open to suggestions and we're always doing the best things for children," Hamilton said.

Hamilton encouraged parents involved in cooperative education to attend some of the conferences put on by GDCNC, in which other parents talk about their experiences with cooperative education.

"There's a lot of cooperation and that's what I want for you," Hamilton said.

Hamilton discussed the plight of many cooperative schools because they are non-profit organizations. These cooperative schools are having a difficult time finding locations for their facilities, Hamilton said, and must raise funds to keep schools open.

The cooperative school concept originally began in 1918 at the University of Chicago with professor's wives participating in the program.

"Co-ops grew stronger, but in the last couple of years building sites have been lacking," Hamilton said.

This is due to the increase of working mothers who don't have time to be involved in cooperative education and the building of more regular preschools, Hamilton said. Currently there are 74 member schools in GDCNC.

This year, McKinley personnel and parents will have to generate between $4,000 and $5,000 because the school moved, Hamilton said.

McKinley Preschool was located in Livonia for 19 years, but moved to Westland this year due to the lack of classroom space in the Livonia district, spokesperson Ann Katopodis said. McKinley relocated to Westland after the need for a cooperative preschool in the area was realized, she added.

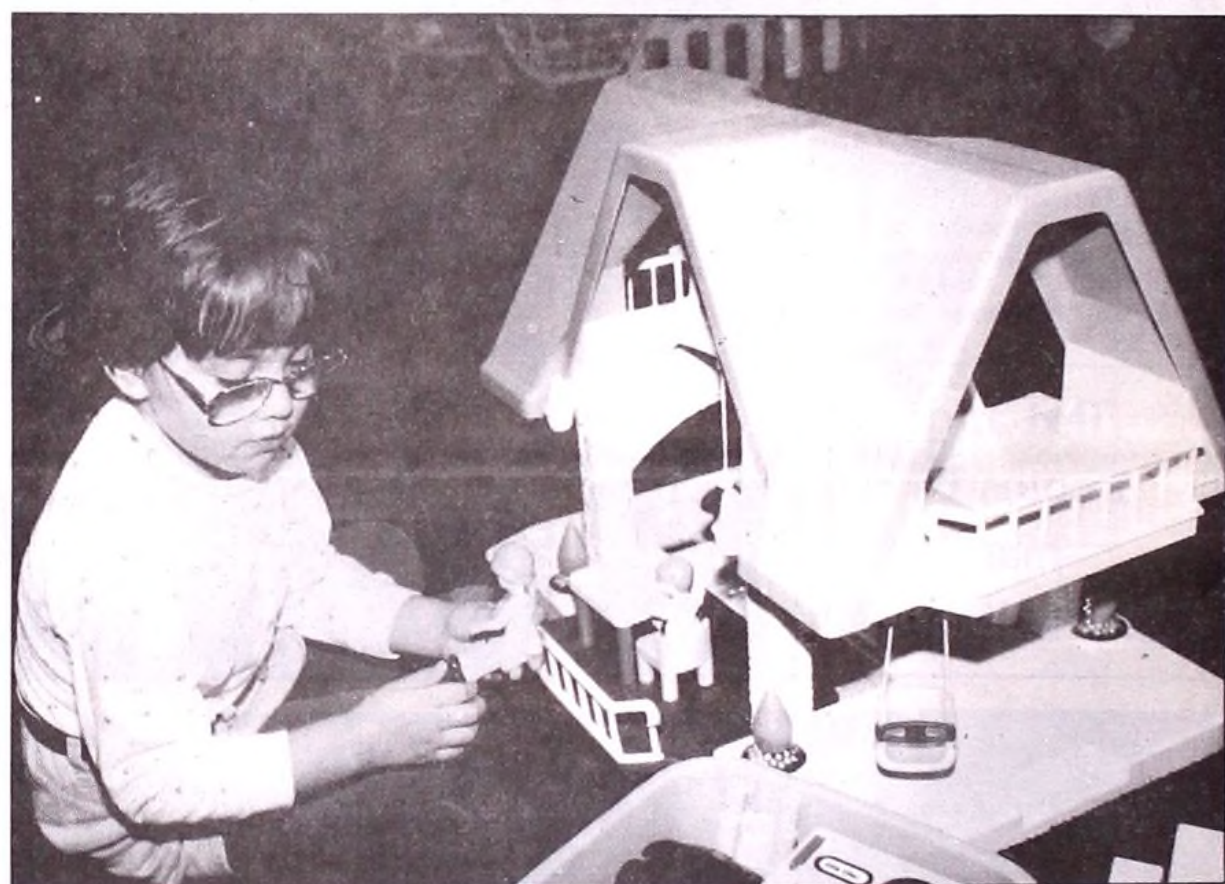

The non-profit school has certified teachers. Parents who enroll their 2-year-olds in the program attend classes with their children and help in the instructing process by following teacher directions, membership chairperson Randy Harder said.

Parents with 3 and 4-year-olds attend the classes once or twice per month, so there are always two or three parents to aid in instruction, Harder said.

Classes are offered Monday and Wednesday for 4-year-olds, Tuesday and Thursday for 3-year-olds and parents and tots meet Friday mornings. For more information, contact Lisa at 728-4085 regarding the 4-year-old program, Frances at 425-4654 regarding the 3-year-old program and Jennifer at 458-5195 for the tots program.

Mazda 929 could be classic

By CRAIG GARRETT
Special Writer

It's not hard to wonder why Mazda is suffering through a minor sales slump and an identity crisis with world-class sedans like the 929.

Fluid first comes to mind in describing the ultra-sleek four door. From front to rear, 929 features a flowing, low-slung design that appeals to the eye, but actually is more functional and aerodynamically holds the vehicle closer to the ground. Handling, accordingly, is pleasurable and smooth. Road feel, due to a sophisticated multi-link suspension (and rear-wheel drive), plus the bullet-like look, is quiet as the inside of a pocket. Knobs, buttons and dials are where they should be and seat comfort, despite the Japanese tendency to undersize, is acceptable.

A 195-horse V6 manages to pull 929 into traffic at a steady pace, although two-lane passing power is somewhat less than adequate. Mileage is good at 19 city and 24 highway (EPA estimates).

The premium package, priced out at around $35,000, features a wood trimmed center console, cellular telephone wiring, a more than acceptable Panasonic CD system, reflective solar glass and an optional solar-powered ventilation system channeled through the sunroof.

Twenty years from now, 929 will in all likelihood be considered a classic vehicle of the 1990s. Take that wager and don't count Mazda out just yet.

Mazda's flagship luxury sedan, the 929, enters 1994 with high levels of sophistication, elegance and safety equipment. The 929's interior has been enhanced with a new center console with cupholders and adjustable seat belt anchors for increased driver comfort. Mazda has refined the 929's audio controls, mounted on the steering wheel, and its unique solar-powered moonroof ventilation system. ANP Special Photo
